The Good Ole Days.....An undated photo from the archives. Looks like track was a lot different then. Does anyone have any information?

2nd Annual WAFA Christmas Tree at the Christmas Pioneer Village at the Plymouth Co. Fairgrounds. Decorated with photos of people in sports through the years drew lots of comments and reminiscences of years past sports, coaches and students that they recognized.

New Item for the Westmar Room was sent to the Plymouth County Museum by Gary N. Smith of Texas. His father was Lawrence Smith, Westmar President, 1968 to 1976. It is a seal for the Western Union College and underneath it says Evangelical Church.

Thank you so much! I would really like to thank those who have contributed to the newsletter in any way, and those who have sent words of encouragement. It is most appreciated. JoAnn

Bricks and Mortar and More

Bricks and Mortar and More – 113 Years of Westmar Buildings – A Summary

by Wayne G. Marty

The Western Union (Westmar) College campus had no buildings when it opened as a new college of the United Evangelical Church in the fall of 1900, because the only building present, when the campus was purchased by the church from the Le Mars Normal School Association was struck by lightning and burned to the ground on August 24, 1900. Therefore the first classes were held in downtown Le Mars buildings until the new Thoren Hall was completed for the opening of the 2nd school year in the fall of 1901. The following is a summary of the Westmar buildings since 1901 with changes coming rapidly after the City of Le Mars became the property owners of the campus when the college closed in November 1997.

Year	Building	Current Status
1901	Thoren Hall	— Demolished November 11, 1990
1904	Union Hall Dorm	—Demolished 1964
1908	First Gymnasium	—Privately owned Day Care and Small Wonders Pre School
1916	First President’s Home	— Privately owned after being moved for campus expansion
1920	Dubs Memorial	— Demolished March 29, 2002
1921	Heating Plant	—Demolished June 2010
1922	Wernli Hall	— Demolished March 12, 2002
1940	Second President’s Home	—Privately owned
1941	Second Gymnasium	— Le Mars city owned Aquatic Center
1941	Airport	— Sold to the City of Le Mars in 1964
1947	First Kime Science Hall	— Demolished February 2002
1947	Industrial Arts Building	—A portion still used by Le Mars YMCA
1946	Married Student Housing	— Privately owned apartments
1947	Memorial/Koehler Hall	— Privately owned apartments

- 1950 Library — Privately owned with a goal to become a Restaurant
- 1958 Weidler Hall — Le Mars city owned for various social services offices
- 1959 Athletic Stadium — Sold to Le Mars Community School in 1983
- 1964 Bonebrake Hall — Privately owned apartments
- 1967 Second Kime Science Hall — Demolition in progress (2013)
- 1969 The Commons — Le Mars city owned Convention Center
- 1969 Centennial Hall — Privately owned for multi-business use
- 1990 Life Sports Center — Le Mars city owned Wellness Center
- 1990 South Academic Center — Owned by Rejoice Community church

Major building “booms” occurred in the 1920’s the post WWII 1940’s and during the rapid enrollment expansion of the 1960’s. These 25 “Bricks and Mortar” structures served the college usefully for various periods of time. The Stadium and Airport were sold in the 60’s when expansion capital was needed and it was difficult for the college to provide necessary funds for desirable upgrades and maintenance. Union Hall and Thoren were demolished while the college was still in operation. Demolition has been directed for five additional buildings since the college closed in 1997. Eight buildings, at least five campus adjacent houses, and many acres of campus space have been sold to private owners and have become tax producing property for the City of Le Mars. Six buildings have been retained by the City of Le Mars to provide beneficial service for Le Mars residents.

Houses and Condos have been built on much of the former athletic space south of the campus. A Funeral Home stands on the former recreation space south of Bonebrake. A new Le Mars Fire Station was constructed on former Westmar Property south of the newer Westmar tennis courts. Tennis courts that filled the space between the Library and Memorial/Koehler Hall will be remembered by older alumni. This was actually multipurpose space with an ice skating rink during some winters and a nice clean car repair space for the mechanic wannabes to use during lovely spring days of old when cars could still be repaired and adjusted with minimal tools. Now the space has found a new purpose as the location for the new Le Mars water tower that boldly proclaims

LeMars—Ice Cream Capital of the World.

The Westmar physical structures can live in our memory whether they have been demolished or continue to be used and beside those memories are the persistent memories of people, creative thought, loves, philosophical tensions, and problem solving challenges. Memory is a precious gift, is still poorly understood and remains as one of the great frontiers for study today. In memory form the Westmar Buildings and the faculty and student interactions that occurred within the buildings will live on for many more years. The buildings have left their legacy.

Alumni News

'63 Byron L. Jeys—Greetings to fellow Westmar alumni: This is my 28th year of living in Africa. During this time, I've been guardian for many orphans. Over 50 have completed secondary school and some have received bachelor and graduate degrees. Two completed seminary and a third is in his last year.

Gift (the third seminarian) visited my farm this past weekend. Recently he was measured for vestments; so the end of his course suddenly seems near. Beginning in June 2013, Gift will serve one year as an assistant pastor. Near the end of that internship, Gift expects to be ordained. He would then return for a final year at Livingstonia Seminary. Gift is married and has a small son.

Livingstonia Seminary is less than ten years old. The buildings are all new. The campus is nicely landscaped. Students sleep in bunk beds four-to-a-room. About 12 students are in each of the 4 classes that are in residence. Another dozen are away on internship. Both women and men are in the classes.

It is wonderful to visit the campus, to see the facilities, to see the Christian fellowship and witness the dedication, it is sad however, to see the library. Although there are many beautiful shelves, they are empty. When Dwight and Linda Vogel retired from active parish work, they sent me some books. I've given these to Livingstonia Seminary. So there are some books.

I send this message in the hope that some of you might also be retiring and looking for a home for your books. Books can be sent to: Gift Kaira (Student minister), Ekwendeni Theological College, CCAP Synod of Livingstonia, Box 4, Ekwendeni, Malawi

Through: The Raven Trust, visit them at <http://www.theraventrust.org>

I would like to mention how the act of one of your co-alumni blessed me and my family. In 1977 our small son passed away. My wife and I were devastated. Church and family offered comfort. One of the Westmar alumnus whom I knew only by sight and reputation wrote a simple message that helped us.

This unselfish man wrote that when his daughter had died, it seemed impossible that they could be happy again; yet, God in countless ways sent them comfort. God took away their grief and sorrow. We were assured that God could and would comfort us.

God did give us comfort. I learnt much about God and His goodness; I also learnt how to comfort others. In 1985, I came to Malawi in Africa, to work with the disabled. After 3 years, I began teaching in a large self-help boarding school. I had had one son; now I was a father to 1000. During the 12 years I taught about 5000 lads and 1000 girls. I knew each of them as God's child. I could give them God's father-love. And during that 12 years, death took 25 of my fellow teachers, took sons, brothers, fathers, husbands, wives of my co-workers. Knowing that God could and would comfort His children gave me courage, hope, strength and wisdom that was needed to support and comfort in practical ways. On their death beds, many friends asked me to become the guardian of their children. So my home opened up to many and has never been empty again. At one time I had 16 boys and girls living in my house, now I only have seven.

In 27 years I've helped hundreds. Nearly every day I hear from some of these dear people with whom I was privileged to share God's love. God does more in "mysterious ways, his wonders to perform."

I live on a 5000 ft. plateau in northern Malawi. I can look down on the Lake Malawi in Africa's Great Rift Valley.

I would enjoy hearing from any of you. Unfortunately, I do not have e-mail. I can receive mail at: P. O. Box 23, Mzokoto PO, Malawi, Africa

Byron "Mawingo" Jeys

(A note from his sister Virginia Jeys Pulver—He has lived in a humble setting, doing great work for the people and leading a full rich life that makes a difference. I hope you will enjoy reading his remarks and will share them with others (particularly pastors, ministers or clergy) who may be interested in Byron's work. My brother does not actually have e-mail access, but he does have a Facebook page (Byron L Jeys) which he checks on his occasional visits to the city.)

'51—LaDonna Trapp Kienitz writes from Newport Beach, CA, that she has been Visiting Assistant Clinic Professor, Tax Law Clinic, Chapman University School of Law, Orange, CA, for the past three years. J. D. Western State University School of Law Fullerton, CA. and LL.M in Taxation, University of San Diego. She has a private law practice specializing in tax disputes and controversies. www.taxsolutionsite.com

Like Grandfather, like grandson...

'67—Ron "Red" Wiltgen played basketball for Westmar and his grandson Blake Wiltgen plays for Gehlen Catholic HS. Blake recently scored 22 points as the game high scorer. www.lemarssentinel.com (used with permission.)

'61—Karen (Thompson) Johnson writes from Cazenovia, NY, that they have been selling Wizard of Oz merchandise for over 12 years and there is an annual "Oz-Stavaganza". She taught school for some 32 years and loved it. "I always felt Westmar did a good job of preparing me for it."

Alumni News—ABOUT

A recent addition to the Westmar Room at the Plymouth Co. Historical Museum is an interesting handmade clock. The information with it states:

This clock was hand carved by Jacob Wernli (founder of Northwestern Normal School and Business College in Le Mars, which evolved into Western Union College) and acquired by Emmett and Mary Ann Freking in 1949 for a trade of a 1931 Chevrolet Coupe from William Zieg. Mr Zieg acquired the clock from Hentges Brothers who had it in safe-keeping from the Wernli family.

IMPORTANT: Ask yourself and your relatives that attended Westmar or one of the colleges associated with Westmar if it is time to clean out the bookshelf and the storage space by donating year books and other memorabilia to Wafa. We are missing copies of '29, '42, '45, '58 '59, '60, '61, '65, and '75. A number of these have been requested. Your donations will be appreciated by many and your children will not have to deal with them later.

Thank you for considering Westmar (Wafa) in your future plans.
